Join Food Not Bombs in the fight against food insecurity in Houston!

Food Not Bombs Houston

is a mutual aid organization that has been sharing vegan & vegetarian meals with food insecure members of our community since 1994.

Our food-sharings are Sunday, Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 7:30pm @ 550 McKinney St.

We currently share a healthy meal with anywhere from 100 to 200 people each night, four nights a week, rain or shine.

As the number of people we share food with continues to increase, we're hoping to establish new partnerships with local grocers, restaurants and delis in order to ensure that we can keep up with the growing needs of our community.

Help our mission to end hunger by donating any of the following:

Any and all produce items, rice, pasta, dried beans or lentils, canned vegetables or soups, snacks, dairy items, beverages of any kind, frozen goods, non-perishable dry goods, pre-made vegan or vegetarian "deli" items, etc

NO DONATION IS TOO SMALL!

Why Donate to Food Not Bombs - Houston?

Contribute directly to the reduction of food waste in the United States!

Cooks for Food Not Bombs use donations of “ugly” or “bruised” fruits and veggies that would otherwise go into a dumpster to make delicious meals for people experiencing food insecurity.

Your donations will fill an immediate need for Houstonians experiencing hunger today!

Many of the people who attend our food-sharings have come to rely on Food Not Bombs - Houston as a source of healthy, nutrient-rich food that will sustain their body and mind in a much more impactful way than many of the foods that are accessible or affordable for people experiencing poverty.

Reduce the amount of labor necessary for your establishment to rotate out ‘unusable’ items!

Our volunteers have maintained a consistent pick up schedule from the grocers we have donation partnerships with. All we would need from you is the appropriate day/time for pick up and we would take care of the rest!

Speak with the volunteer who provided you with this flyer if you have any additional questions!
